Method it was that the impainted from the publicity by publishing them in pamphile form, and one New York catablabineme. The publicity of the property of the property of the publicity of the cans was wrong, and based on wrong calculations as to the cousequences. Some gentlemen have tried to prove to us by figures that the Republicans, if united with the Greenbackers, could overcome the Democratic majority; but they did not take into consideration that those Greenbackers who had become tired of the Democratic party, but did not wish to join with the Republican party, would, by auch a coalition, be driven back into the Democratic camp. From whence, under such circumstances, the Republican majority would arise we cannot see. It must be said, however, that the Republicans of Ohio county have set up a platform which contains nothing that could be obnoxious even to the most enthusiastic Greenbacker.

minority has always an advantage over the owngit and neglects of the administration which is under their control. In that respect the majority, because it has not many chances to commit faults. Above all the Republicans should try to win the confidence of the people and to convince them that the misoloings and faults of the ruling party would be corrected if the minority should take the place of the majority. Whether the Republican party will be able to effect this change in public opinion must also be left to the future.

The only concession to the Greenbackers is the resolution against the convict labor system. As everybody knows, the agitation against the employment of the signature of the signature of the convicted criminals is one of the hobbies of the Greenback or Labor Party, which deems the luterest of the working classes, but on the other hand it should not be forgotten that humanity demands the proposed to the community in general; that it is of benefit to the community in general; that the convicts should not only be pushished but at the same time have a chance for moral imprevement, and that this object can only be attained by compelling them this attitude of the convertion of abness it along the convertion of abness it along the convertion of abness have its effect, but perhaps not as great an effect as the Republicans expect.

Whether other concessions not mentioned in the platform are made or will be made to the Greenbackers by the Republicans, we cannot ray, because we do not know the inner workings of the Republicans in control when the relation of county offers and the working classes have its effect, but perhaps not as great an effect as the Republicans expect.

Whether other concessions not mentioned in the platform are made or will be made to the Greenbackers by the Republicans, we cannot ray, because we don the converse of the

It must be said, however, that the Republicans of Ohio county have set up a platform which contains nothing that could be obnoxious even to the most enthusiastic Greenbacker.

The money question is not troubled at all, and as far as the administration of State matters is concerned, the Republicans have made accusations against the Democratic party in which, if proved to be correct, the Greenbackers could readily concur. Of course, the ruling party is always made responsible for all the faults and neglects of the Zedministration which is under their control. In that respect the minority has always an advantage over the meterly because it has not read the proposity has always an advantage over the majority has always a

How to Diminish Federal Taxation If we are willing to stop altogether the reduction of the public debt, it is possible to abolish the whole internal revenue system. This produces, as in 1879, $113-561,019, which is about the average since the reductions of 1871. grain, is convinced that the yield of wheat grain, is convinced that the yield of wheat is largely increased thereby. Last year he sowed salt with a portion of his wheat, and the yield was much greater than on other portions not sown with it. This year he has eighty acres of wheat, on all of which he has sown salt. He also applied it to his oats, as he says it certainly ought to be good for that crop too. The experiments made by Mr. Hearne have induced a large number of Kentucky larmers to try this fertilizer, and we hear of its being sown by farmers in other counties.
